PROPOSALS

For Publishing, by Subscription,

THE COMPLETE WORKS OF

SIR WALTER SCOTT:

With a Biography: being the first American (and only) edition which contains the Author's last additions and illustrations, arranged upon their respective pages.

A COMPLETE and uniform edition of the various productions of the great 'Minstrel of the North,' is a desideratum with the American public. No library is complete without them, and no edition extant is sufficiently compact for such a repository; while the endless number of editions, without any uniformity in size, heretofore published, besides being exceedingly cumbrous, are far too voluminous and expensive to be within the reach of the great majority of readers. The undersigned therefore announce, that they have now in press, and will issue, an edition of the Works of Sir Walter Scott, which will embrace all his Poems, Novels, Histories, Biographies, and Fugitive Compositions, as well as the Biography and Private Correspondence, now in the course of publication in England, under the superintendence of Mr. Lockhart.

1st. In Parts: each Part embracing as much matter as is contained in two volumes of the present editions of the Waverley Novels, which will be put at the unprecedented low price of THIRTY SEVEN AND A HALF CENTS.

2d. Two parts will appear each month; but should the publishers find the work to meet the patronage they anticipate, FOUR PARTS will be issued monthly.

3d. The whole will be completed in seven volumes, or forty eight parts.

The paper on which the above is now printing, has been made expressly for the purpose; the present parts may, therefore, be considered a fair specimen, in every respect, of the whole work; but, should dissatisfaction arise with any subscriber, owing to an inferior article being offered, he may discontinue at any time, and have the amount paid returned.

Note.—The publication of the first volume is deferred until the receipt of the Biography, Private Correspondence, and the New Edition of the Author's Poetical Works, with 'contemporary criticism—various readings—and correspondence with some of the most eminent persons of the time when the Poems first appeared,' now in the course of publication in England.

Volume 1 will be ornamented with an excellent Portrait of Sir Walter Scott.

DAILY PITTSBURGH GAZETTE.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON, AUGUST 27, 1833.

APPOINTMENT BY THE GOVERNOR.

James D. Johnston, Esq. to be Notary Public, vice John Thaw, Esq. resigned.

☞ PUBLIC MEETING.—Upon reference to another part of our paper, it will be seen that a public meeting was held at the court house, yesterday, and that all the measures, now deemed necessary, in relation to the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal, and the improvement of the Monongahela, were unanimously adopted.

HERMAN BLENNERHASSET.—The people of the western country have heard so much about this man, about the island in the Ohio, (named after him,) and about that accomplished female whose fortunes were connected with his, that a brief notice of him will probably not be uninteresting.—We have extracted a note to the poem, recently published in Cincinnati, called the Emigrant, giving some information about the unfortunate dupe of Aaron Burr, which was not generally known.—The writer of this note had visited this island, at a time when, in the glowing language of Mr. Wirt, there stood upon it a noble mansion—

"Decorated with every romantic embellishment of fancy—a shrubbery that Shenstone might have envied—music that might have charmed a Calypso and her nymphs," "when peace, tranquillity, and innocence shed their mingled delights around—and when, above all, a woman, lovely beyond her sex, crowned the enchantment of the scene."

He has, also, frequently visited it since the destroyer came—since the serpent entered this new Eden, and since wretchedness and desolation have fallen upon it.

If we may judge from our own feelings, this article will be found interesting, for we were truly gratified to learn, that the lovely woman who had experienced such vicissitudes in life, is likely to pass the residue of her days in peace and tranquillity in her native kingdom.

In the last Lancaster Journal, a Jackson paper, we noticed an article containing five queries, propounded to Samuel M'Kean. The following are the fourth query, and the concluding paragraph:

"4thly. In the months of August and September, 1832, did not Gen. M'Kean call upon certain leading National Republicans, of Dauphin county, and urge them to vote for Governor Wolf; and did he not pledge himself to them that if they would obtain for him the support of the National Republican party, Governor Wolf and himself would support the election of Henry Clay."

"These queries will suffice for the present. They are strong, but I know what I am about, and I believe General M'Kean will hardly venture upon a denial. In the 4th, wherein Governor Wolf is spoken of as pledged by General M'Kean to go over, upon certain conditions, to the support of Henry Clay, I do not mean to intimate that the Governor was, in any way, privy to that pledge, or that he was in the least prepared to sanction it. But that the pledge was so given, admits of the most conclusive proof—and General M'Kean is respectfully invited to deny it. C."

We do not pretend to express any opinion as to the truth of the charge here made—if true, it is manifest that Mr. M'Kean was willing to enter into an arrangement of "bargain and sale." The charge is certainly very boldly made; whether it will be met, by Mr. M'Kean, or any of his friends, is somewhat doubtful.

Our readers will probably recollect, that, during the Gubernatorial campaign, the Pittsburgh Statesman, and several other Clay papers, supported Gov. Wolf. Their course was at that time thought to be very strange and mysterious—common folks could not understand why Clay men supported a Jackson candidate for governor. If this charge of "bargain and sale" can be substantiated, it makes the whole matter clear to the meanest capacity. Indeed, the very fact that these papers supported Governor Wolf, forms, of itself, an item of evidence in support of the charge, but would not, alone, be sufficient to convict Gen. M'Kean.

It seems manifest that there is a settled determination, of the friends of Martin Van Buren, to prostrate Samuel M'Kean—and it must be truly gratifying to them, to find him yielding so kindly to their views, and walking up, like a sheep, to the slaughter. The last Washington (Pa.) Examiner, talks about the papers in the interest of M'Kean, and those opposed to him, expressing themselves "thoughtlessly." Now does the editor of that paper believe that this charge is made "thoughtlessly"—does it not bear every mark of deliberation?

The Lancaster Journal is printed at the home of James Buchanan—its editor, we think, enjoys the confidence of that gentleman, and favors his election to the Senate of the United States; is it then probable, that it speaks "thoughtlessly"? To our mind, it seems clear that a plan of operations against Mr. M'Kean, has been arranged. A part of that plan, we suspect, is, that certain papers in favorable locations shall carry on an open war against him—that influential partisans, in different sections of the State, shall secretly undermine and destroy his reputation—and that, for the purpose of preventing an entire and open commencement of hostilities, another set of papers shall continually cry out "Peace, Peace"—"the utmost harmony prevails in the party," &c. &c. Among the latter, we place the Pittsburgh Mercury and Washington Examiner.

It is, truly, a wonderful kind of harmony, in a party, where such serious charges are brought against one of its most prominent men.

PUBLIC MEETING.

In pursuance of a request, in the several news papers of the city of Pittsburgh, the citizens of Allegheny county assembled at the court house, on the afternoon of the 26th instant, for the purpose of interchanging sentiments in relation to the commencement of the western division of the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal; and, also, in reference to the proposed Convention, to be held at Greensboro, in the county of Greene.

The Hon. Samuel Pettigrew, Mayor of the city, presided. The meeting being organized—on motion of Robert Burke, Esq., it was

Resolved, That a committee, consisting of three persons, be appointed by the Chair to prepare resolutions, expressive of the opinions of the meeting, on the subject under deliberation.

Robert Burke, Richard Biddle, and N. B. Craig, Esqs. being constituted said committee retired, and, after a few minutes, reported the following resolutions, which were unanimously adopted.

Resolved, That a Committee be appointed to prepare a memorial, to be presented to both Houses of Congress, at their next session, in favor of an appropriation of money, for the commencement of the western division of the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal.

Resolved, That the same persons be a Committee to procure signatures to the memorial, when prepared, and to forward the same to the Hon. Wm. Wilkins and the Hon. Harmar Denny, with the request that they will present the same to the Houses to which they respectively belong; and that they will use their utmost exertions to procure the passage of a law, in conformity with the application of the memorialists.

Resolved, That ten delegates be appointed to represent this city and county in a Convention, to be held at Greensboro, on the 23d of September next, on the subject of the improvement of the Monongahela river; and that said delegates be instructed to unite, heartily, in any measure that may be devised for the purpose of effecting an object of such obvious utility.

At the instance of the meeting, the Chair assigned the duty contemplated by the first and second of the foregoing resolutions to Richard Biddle, Walter Forward, Esqs., and the Rev. Charles Avery—and by the third resolution, to Robert Burke, H. M. Watts, Wm. Eichbaum, Chas. Avery, John M. Snowden, Sen., W. W. Fetterman, Rob't Christy, Neville B. Craig, John D. Davis, and Dr. A. N. M'Dowell.

A motion of W. W. Irwin, Esq., that the delegates appointed to the Convention, at Greensboro, be authorized to fill any vacancies occurring in their own body, was then adopted.

It was also agreed that the editors of the newspapers in this city be requested to publish the proceedings of this meeting.

SAMUEL PETTIGREW, Chairman.
H. M. WATTS, Secretary.

Accident.—On Saturday evening last, an infant child of Mr. Ward, shoemaker, was killed by the wheel of a cart passing over it in the street.

Another.—On the same evening, a German, named Augustus Northoff, bathing in the Monongahela river, was drowned while attempting to cross the channel. His body was found on Sunday afternoon.—Alleg'y Democrat.

From the U. S. Gazette, Aug. 24.

We learn, by the New York Daily Advertiser, of yesterday, that Le Blanc, charged with the murder of Mr. Sayers and his wife, has been pronounced guilty—the Advertiser says:

MORRISTOWN, Thursday Morning, Aug. 22.

LE BLANC IS CONVICTED.

"The jury rendered the verdict of guilty—in perfect consonance with the feelings of all who heard the testimony—last evening, after a very few minutes' deliberation. Judge Ford, it is expected, will sentence him this morning.

Every thing that ingenious, and even eloquent counsel could do, has been done for him; but justice will have perfect work. Mr. Brown urged home her claims upon the consciences and the feelings of the jury, with the ardor of an accomplished votary, in the most felicitous terms. Mr. Halsey followed, and, in a speech of four hours, betraying all his distinguished acumen, and peculiar resources, sought, in all faithfulness, to make "the worse appear the better reason." His peroration was a fine specimen of forensic sophistry.

Mr. McCulloch, in continuing the argument for his prisoner, succeeded only in convincing a crowded auditory—it was a Lafayette squeeze—that professional zeal and eloquence may be powerfully exerted in a bad cause. The whole subject was comprehensively surveyed, and eloquently summed up in behalf of Humanity, Justice, and Mercy, by Mr. Miller.

TRIAL AT MORRISTOWN, N. J.

Antoine Le Blanc charged with the murder of Samuel Sayre, Wife and Servant.

CONVICTION OF LE BLANC.—We learn by a gentleman from Morristown, that the trial of Le Blanc, for the murder of the Sayre family, closed on Wednesday afternoon, when the jury returned with a verdict of Guilty. The Court, yesterday morning, sentenced him to be executed on the 6th September next. Our informant states, that after sentence was pronounced, Le Blanc confessed his guilt.—N. Y. Mer. Adv.

LATE FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE.

LATER FROM HAVRE.

By the Garonne, Capt. Skiddy, at N. York, we have accounts from Paris of the 15th and Havre of the 18th of July.

The most important item of news is the following from Galignani's Messenger, of the 15th July:

Letters from Madrid, dated the 4th instant, in addition to the particulars of the proceedings of the expedition to the Algarves, already published, state that the sailors of the town of Ullon rose and proclaimed Donna Maria, and the Juiz da Fora, who opposed their design, was seized, dragged through the town, and torn limb from limb. The small squadron of Don Miguel stationed before the Algarves voluntarily requested Admiral Napier to receive them into his service. The town of Thomar and the Volunteer Royalists, who but a few minutes before had received orders to return to Lisbon, revolted, and the latter marched to the prisons, whence they liberated one hundred and fifty persons, confined for political offences, who immediately took up arms. Deputies were sent off to Goleago, Tamoz, Torres, Novas, Chamuse, Barquinha, Castel, Blanco, and other places, all of which, as well as Thomar, proclaimed Donna Maria. The soldiers, the deserters, and numerous volunteers, assembled from all parts, shouting "Long live Maria II." A corps of 1,200 men and 300 cavalry was organized in 24 hours, and directed their march towards Abrantes, to liberate the political prisoners there, and thence proceed to the Algarves.

A letter from Naples, dated, the 30th ult. says, "The Count Hector de Lucchesi Palli has just arrived here, and is about to join the Duchess of Berri at Palermo. He has not yet obtained an audience of the King."

The Augsburgh Gazette, of the 11th July, contains the following of the 6th, from Berlin—"The principal object of the conference which is to take place in Bohemia, towards the beginning of next month, between the Sovereigns of Prussia, Russia, and Austria, is to agree on the necessary measures, that the organization and government of the late Polish provinces, under the three Powers, may be regulated (as much as possible) on the same principles. It is thought that the severity of many measures taken since the revolution, will be softened. The interests of the three Powers on this point are the same, and there is nothing required but a mutual understanding as to the adoption of the measures alluded to. As this is a question which concerns only the three Powers, it is evident that the meeting of the Sovereigns, without a direct participation of the other governments, cannot be an indication of discord between the European Powers. All the Governments manifest a desire to maintain peace and restore order; there are no ambitious views any where, and a grand, general interest keeps within bounds interests of a subordinate kind. Amidst so many difficult points subjected to local negotiations, the general political state of Europe has never been more pacific and more tranquillizing than at present. The Emperor of Russia will, it appears, embark at Cronstadt, on board a steamer, and thence proceed to the coast of Pomerania. From Stettin his Majesty will continue his journey to Bohemia."

The Swiss Journals contain an account of the proceedings of the Federal Diet on the 8th inst., respecting the treatment of the Polish refugees.—The first question, whether the subject should be referred to a committee, was not decided for the want of an absolute majority. The same fate attended two following questions—one, whether the matter should be considered purely federal—and the other, whether it should be treated as simply Cantonal. A fourth question, whether full powers should be given to the Verort, to continue his negotiations with the French government for a return of the Poles into France, was carried in the affirmative, by a majority of fifteen votes. The discussion was then adjourned to the following day.

According to the Trieste Journals, Sultan Mahmoud, immediately after the termination of the Egyptian affairs, will send his son and heir, Abdul Meschid, to St. Petersburgh, in order to make him acquainted with European knowledge and manners.

The Leipsic Gazette, of the 10th instant, contains the following, of the 6th, from Tœplitz:—"King Charles X. is making preparations for his departure, and will probably leave us the day after to morrow. Owing to the gout and debility, he has seldom been seen in public, except at church. The Duke de Bordeaux, on the contrary, who is a fine youth, is frequently visited. He displays great activity, and is exceedingly fond of fencing and horsemanship. It is generally asserted that the Ex-King will reside at a place between Tœplitz and Prague, until the purchase of a residence at Gratz, for which he is in treaty, be concluded. It appears certain that he will not return to Prague. Apartments for the King of Prussia and his numerous suite are engaged here from the 15th. We are assured that the Emperor of Austria, after a short stay at Prague, where he will review the troops, intends to pay a visit to the King of Prussia. The Court of Saxony are also expected for a short time."

The Journal de Smyrne, of May 26, contains the following:—"The French squadron, under the command of Admiral Hugon, is still at anchor near Vourla, expecting the promised reinforcements. It consists of six ships of the line, four frigates, three sloops, four brigs, and two store ships. The English fleet consists of eight ships of the line, seven frigates, and a great number of smaller vessels. The Russian fleet in the Bosphorus consists of thirteen ships of the line, six frigates, three sloops, five brigs, three schooners, two store ships, one steam vessel, and a great number of transports. Accounts from Alexandria mention that it is the intention of the Pacha to leave from 50,000 to 60,000 men in the territories ceded to him by the Porte, partly to introduce the intended changes without resistance, and partly to keep in check the Bedouins, whose restless spirit still causes him anxiety. The rest of the army return to the several garrison towns in Egypt.—The firmans which contain the amnesty and cessions had arrived at Alexandria, and caused the most lively joy to Mehemet Ali and the inhabitants."

IRELAND.

DUBLIN, July 8.—Suppression of the Orange Processions.—It appears that government is taking decisive steps for the prevention of the threatened Orange processions in the counties of Londonderry and Donegal. Last Friday, two troops of the 14th dragoons, commanded by Major Beckwith, (with Captains Delme and Dawson,) left Dublin for the north, and halted at Drogheda for the night, from whence they marched next morning, via Dundalk. On Saturday, the head quarter division of the same regiment, commanded by Lieutenant Townshend, left Dublin, and arrived at Drogheda, pursuing the same route, with orders to concentrate at Newry. Other forces are, it is understood, marching northward, from stations in the interior. It appears that a Masonic Lodge, at St. John's town, actually marched in procession, on Monday last; July 1, in commemoration of the battle of the Boyne, and that three Orange Lodges, of the Lifford district, (on the borders of the counties of Donegal and Tyrone,) have also proclaimed their determination to march in procession, on the 12th, (corresponding to the 1st of July, old style.) The district master at Lifford, William M'Intosh, has published a very serious pastoral letter, to the "dear brethren," reminding them that at the last quarterly meeting of the district lodge, at Raphoe, "it was agreed that there should be no procession this year, in this district." "I trust," continues the master, "no Orangeman will so far forget his solemn obligation as to be guilty of a breach of the law, and disrespect for the orders of the head of the institution."

NEW YORK, Aug. 23, 2 o'clock, P. M.

LATEST FROM EUROPE.

The arrival of the ship George Washington, which left Liverpool on the evening of the 25th of July, just as our paper was going to press, gives time only to offer a very brief summary of the news she brings.

We have London papers to the evening of the 24th. The Irish Temporalities Bill had been the subject of much discussion in the House of Lords; but with the exception of the 41st and 42d clauses, had been agreed to as far as the 48th clause. The Duke of Wellington had attempted an amendment, which was lost, the votes being—Contents 76, non-contents 70—majority 16 in favor of ministers.

It was confidently stated in Londonon, the 23d, that France and England had agreed to recognize Queen Donna Maria immediately on the constitutional troops taking possession of Lisbon, and that the ambassadors of her majesty will be received by both powers. Donna Maria is expected in London on her way to Portugal.

In the House of Commons, Mr. Stanley moved the second reading of the W. I. Slavery Bill. Mr. Buxton, stated that there was to be no discussion in the present stage of the Bill, that he should hereafter submit two propositions: first, to limit the apprenticeship consistent with due preparation for a state of freedom; and second, to guard against the granting of any of the compensation until the abolition of negro slavery had been fully and entirely effected. After an extended conversation, the Bill was read a second time.

The Report of the East India Bill was received and agreed to; and the Bill ordered to be read a third time on Friday.

The Jew's Disabilities Bill occasioned considerable discussion, but finally passed, 189 ayes, 52 noes—majority, 137.

The Thelusson's Property Bill had passed the House of Lords.

A considerable debate had taken place on the subject of the proposed new commercial relations between England and France.

A motion to consider the propriety of shortening the term of the session of Parliament, commonly called the Triennial Parliament Bill, was negatived after considerable debate—for the motion 164, against it 213; majority 49.

Oporto papers of the 12th July had been received. No attack had been attempted on that place by the Miguelite's, Don Pedro had conferred upon Capt. Napier the title of Viscount of Cape St. Vincent, and appointed him Admiral of the Royal Armada of Portugal. An attack upon Oporto was however daily expected, and the merchants had requested to remove their wine to a place of safety.

Time will not admit of further extracts, which will be given in to morrow's paper. We have not been able to discover any other news of importance.

LONDON, July 24th.—It was reported in the city that an extraordinary express had arrived from Paris, bringing intelligence that the French government received a telegraphic despatch yesterday morning, from Bayonne, announcing that Marshal Bourmont made a desperate attack upon Oporto, on the 16th, and was obliged to return on the road to Braga, with a considerable loss.

His Grace the Duke of Sutherland is dead.

NOTE TO THE 56th STANZA OF THE EMIGRANT.

The allusion, here, is to Blennerhasset's island, which is beautifully situated in the Ohio. The romantic story of its former inhabitants makes it a spot of great interest to the Emigrant, who, in descending the river, never fails to request that it may be pointed out to him; and it is often the topic of conversation and conjecture to him and his companions for hours after they have passed it. The author is indebted to Morgan Neville, Esq., for the following account of the Island and its unfortunate owner. Mr. Neville's admirable tale of Mike Fink, and his other sketches, have created in the public an appetite for more, which they have long hoped he would be induced to gratify, with longer and more frequent productions; or, at least, that he would collect what he has written into a volume.

"BLENNERHASSET'S ISLAND.—How many recollections of mingled pleasure and pain, does the name of this once beautiful spot call to mind! In descending the Ohio, I never come in sight of the island, without sensations almost too powerful to bear; and I linger on the deck of the boat, until the point below snatches it from view. The first impressions were made on me in early youth, and time cannot efface them; on the contrary, the long vista through which I look back to this western "Eden," presents it, probably, with exaggerated colorings of beauty and loveliness.—The traveler, as he wanders over the grounds, once consecrated by philanthropy, cannot reconcile it with probability, that a proud mansion, a quarter of a century since, was here erected, dedicated to hospitality, where a priestess, in the person of an elegant and refined lady, shed an influence around that attracted to its portal the stranger from every country. In looking at a scene, now desolate and repulsive, he can scarcely credit the fact, that, within that period, the same place was embellished by gardens, groves, and arbors, upon which taste was exhausted, and which cost a fortune to realize. The villa of Blennerhasset was really a beacon light in the wilderness, that seemed created to invite the approach of the stranger to enjoy that repose which the sluggish and comfortless mode of traveling of that day, rendered so gratifying. The only sounds now heard, are the sighing of the wind through the lofty cotton wood, or the puffing of steam, as some boat rushes rapidly past the flourishing settlement of Bellepre. There was a time when music of a less melancholy character breathed upon the ear; when a master hand swept the chords, and science and taste directed the scene.

Herman Blennerhasset and his accomplished wife have sat for many a picture; but, after all, Fancy, alone, guided the pencil, and the originals have never been truly sketched. The reality of their history possesses sufficient interest, without the aid of fiction to enlist the sympathies of the most romantic. Born to fortune, and nobly connected, Blennerhasset stood in the front rank of society. Educated for the bar, he distinguished himself on many occasions, and he was the assistant counsel, with Curran, in the celebrated trial of Hamilton Rowan. But his disposition was restless, his mind visionary, and, doubtless, he felt sincerely for the degraded state of his country. Notwithstanding his close relationship to the aristocracy of Ireland, and the glaring unfitness of his character for scenes of daring and of danger, he connected himself with the leading yeomen of that day, and became the intimate associate and coadjutor of Arthur O'Connor. He continued to labor in the cause of Liberty, until the eyes of Government were turned upon him; the result is a matter of public history; O'Connor was arrested, and Blennerhasset escaped. He had the good fortune, however, to secure a considerable portion of his property, and, accompanied by his accomplished wife, an English lady, he arrived in New York, in 1796 or '97, with what, in this country, was esteemed a large fortune.

He was, however, a visionary; he knew nothing of human nature, nothing of the practical business of life. With considerable literary acquirements, and much pretensions to science, he gave himself up to all the reveries and schemes of modern philosophy; with Southey, Godwin, and the whole class, he was continually dreaming about the perfectability of human nature, and believed that innocence was alone to be found in that portion of humanity, which approached the nearest to a state of nature. With these notions, which he succeeded, in some measure, in imparting to his young and interesting partner, he declined establishing himself in any of our Atlantic cities, then the only places in the Union offering attractions to a foreigner of taste and fortune, and turned his attention to the magnificent solitudes of the West. He purchased a portion of the Island, in Virginia, near the mouth of the Little Kenhawa, which has been consecrated by his misfortunes, and executed those embellishments which have since become the theme of many a fanciful speech and tale.

Considering himself a second Capac, he set about acquiring an influence over the rude inhabitants of the Virginia shores, which might enable him to test the efficiency of his favorite system. But his exertions were abortive, and he became convinced of the folly of his early speculations on human nature; his unsophisticated scholars, affecting to admire him, overreached him on all occasions, and then laughed at him. He embarked in commercial speculations; this proved a failure, and he stopped in time to save a portion of the large fortune which, a few years before, he brought from Europe. He recanted, in bitterness of feeling, his early political principles, and began to sigh for the charms of refined society. Discontent stole into his domestic circle, and the idea of educating his two interesting boys in the desert, became insupportable.

Oh! quantum est in rebus inane!

During this state of feeling, Colonel Burr presented himself, armed with all the fascinations of manners and address, which so eminently distinguished him. He soon became the ruler of the destiny of the Island pair, and unfolded to them, with resistless eloquence, his magnificent project of the conquest of Mexico, gilding his own ambition under the plausible motive of relieving enslaved millions from the thraldom of Spanish tyranny. The idea of becoming prominent members of a court that would rival the ancient splendor of Montezuma, and the modern glory of Napoleon, absorbed every other feeling. The remains of this once large fortune were embarked in the scheme, and ruin and misery were the consequence. What he felt and saw as but a misdemeanor, was distorted, by political rancor, into treason; and, although one of the most enlightened juries that were ever empannelled, pronounced an acquittal, Blennerhasset was left destitute of means, and blasted in reputation. He attempted to retrieve his affairs as a cotton planter, but was unsuccessful; he afterwards removed to Montreal, to resume his profession. Within a few years he has returned to England, the outlawry against him being removed; and those who feel an interest in the history of this persecuted family, may be gratified to know that their decline of life will not be devoid of comfort. They reside near Bath, in England, with a sister of Blennerhasset, the relict of the late admiral De Courcy. The evening of life promises to close free from those clouds that so long lowered over them."

Canal Tolls.—The Albany Argus, of yesterday, states that the canal tolls received in the month of July, amount to the sum of $147,899—exceeding by $42,282 02, the sum collected in the coresponding month last year. The following is a comparison of the tolls for July, on all the canals of the state, for 1832 and 1833, to wit:—

Canal.	1833.	1832.	Increase. since 1832.
Erie,	$125,488 04	$91,747 57	$33,740 47
Champlain	17,293 94	11,112 23	6,161 71
Cayuga & Seneca,	2,084 63	1,890 03	194 60
Oswego,	3,032 72	1,867 48	2,165 24
	$147,899 33	106,617 31	42,282 02

The receipts for tolls to the close of July, are greater by one hundred thousand five hundred and twenty two dollars and ninety eight cents, than they were for the same period last year. Some estimate of the great increase of business upon the canals may be formed from the fact, that the diminution in the rates of toll, operating upon the articles which were transported upon the canals in 1832, would probably diminish the aggregate amount of tolls $150,000, for the whole season.—At the diminished rates of toll, such has been the increase of articles transported, that in three months and eight days the aggregate amount exceeds that of the corresponding months of last year, by the sum of more than one hundred thousand dollars.

Manufactures.—The Charleston, S. C. Irishman and Southern Democrat, makes the following prediction respecting the progress of manufacturing in the South.

"Strange as it may seem, Virginia, North and South Carolina and Georga are destined to become the most extensive manufacturing States. It is the only way the slave holders can compete with the virgin soil of the new States. It will raise up a market for provisions which will lead to a proper husbandry and manuring, and increase of Population. The Rail Road will raise up towns in healthy spots, remote from the sickly banks of the rivers. A few millions of capital will give a start to the South that will add to her wealth, population, refinement, and scarcity. The experiment is fairly begun in Georgia, and is too probable to be relinquished.

A paper, called McDowell's Journal, conducted by the Rev. Mr. McDowell, has been commenced in the city of New York. Its object is said to be the dissemination of information concerning the courtezans of that city. Some of the papers condemn its publication as indecent and immoral in its tendency.

Patent Brick Making.—Among the many improvements going on in this borough, Mr. Henry Yeager, brick maker, has purchased of Mr. Kinkle, of Allentown, Lehigh county, the patentee, one of his machines for pressing brick. We have in our office an unburned specimen of the bricks as they come from the machine, which is as smooth as a piece of planed board, perfectly true in every particular, and almost solid enough, in its appearance, to be used in building without the finish of caking, or rather burning, as it is called. The material for brick making is abundant within the precincts of our town, is of the best quality, and the efforts of our manufacturers to give them beauty of finish, will render bricks manufactured here, unsurpassed by any other.—Reading Chron.

The New York Commercial Advertiser observes that a very bitter review of Hon. John Q. Adams' Eulogy on Mr. Munroe has been printed by the well known author of the "Newburgh Letters," Gen. John Armstrong, but not published. The editor has not yet been able to procure a copy.—Let Mr. Adams lay his hands upon a copy, and the public may expect a pungent response.—Balt. Pat.

It is computed that there are in the U. States, about 300 whale ships, employing about 10,000 men, and which bring home every 30 months, about 227,960 barrels of oil, the value of which is not far from $4,000,000. The outfit of each ship, for 30 month's cruise, is from 15,000 to 20,000 dollars.

The Brig Belvidera, arrived at the port of Alexandria, from Liverpool, brought over from Holland four grey hounds, with a litter of whelps—the hounds being a present for the President of the U. States from Mr. Davezac. They are beautiful animals.—Poulson, Aug. 23.

DIED, on the 24th June, at Ballymaine, county of Dublin, Ireland, aged 103, John Doyle, better known by the name of "Silly Jack." This was the man who, if report be true, betrayed the unfortunate Robert Emmett, by giving information that he was at Harold's Cross, for which service he is said to have received 200*l.* secret service money, and two guineas per week, which he received until the short administration of the Duke of Bedford, when that gratuity was discontinued.—Poulson, Aug. 23.

An official enumeration of the deaths in Lexington, Ky., from the 1st of June to the 1st of August, has been reported by a Committee of the City Council of that city. The whole number was 504, of which 272 were whites, 184 slaves, and 48 free blacks. The average mortality per day, during the whole period, was between eight and nine, although the population was very materially diminished by removals.—Poulson, Aug. 23.

Cholera.—It appears from official reports that from the first appearance of the Cholera, at Calais, on the 15th of March, 1832, to the 1st of January, 1833, 230,000 persons, military not included, were attacked, and the number of deaths was 95,000.—Medical and Surgical Journal.

The Louisiana Insurance Company has declared a semi annual dividend of 28 per cent. on the capital stock paid in.

TO PRINTERS, &c.

ADAM RAMAGE respectfully informs his friends and the public, that the continues to make Printing, Copper Plate, Copying, Seal, Lithographic, and other Presses.

Among the variety of Printing Presses in use, it is found necessary, where printing is so universal, to have one of a simple, cheap, and durable description; at the present reduced price of Printing Materials, a small office can now be furnished at a little more than the cost of one expensive and complicated Press.

His present Patent Printing Press is compact, with two perfect Iron Surfaces, instead of wood and stone, as formerly—requires no staying, and can be repaired by any common mechanic.

It is particularly adapted for the country, or for South America, where it is now generally known as the only press that can be transported into the interior of the country with safety and facility.—These Presses are of all sizes, from Imperial to Job and Card Presses, and at corresponding prices.

From his connection with all the Type Foundries of the U. States, he is enabled to furnish a complete Printing Office on the same terms as at the respective foundries.

He embraces this opportunity of offering his grateful acknowledgments for the liberal encouragement he has for a long series of years experienced from the trade, by which he has been enabled to manufacture a greater number of Printing Presses than any other individual in the United States; and will only add, that he is not now solicitous to do a greater business than he can manage with convenience, and continue to give satisfaction to those who may favor him with their commands.

All articles in the Printing line as usual, and on as reasonable terms as at other establishments.

Lithographic Presses, of his make, may be seen at the principal offices of that art in different parts of the United States.

PROSPECT HILL

PITTSBURGH, Pa.

ON the 1st of July, Mr. DANIEL STONE intends opening, near the City of Pittsburgh, an Institution for the instruction of boys. Its plan is to combine, as far as possible, the peculiar advantages of a domestic and public education.—The pupils, with the principal and assistants, will constitute one family, and be at all times under careful supervision. The Discipline will be mild, but strict, such as a father, solicitous for the welfare of his children, would exercise over them. It is believed that an appeal to reason, and the sense of honor and duty, will generally secure obedience. Coercive measures will, therefore, be adopted only in extreme cases.

The Course of Study will embrace the English, Latin, Greek, and French Languages; Arithmetic, Algebra, and Geometry; Geography and History—Ancient and Modern; Rhetoric, Composition, and Elocution; Natural Philosophy and Chemistry; Penmanship, Orthography, and Reading. Frequent examinations will be held, open to the friends and relations of the youths.

The Mode of Instruction will be thorough and critical, and no subject will be relinquished until fully understood. That the scholar's mind may become vigorous, active, and self-confident—prepared for the stern conflicts of life, and a fearless discharge of its duties, he will be encouraged to reason and decide for himself.

Each student will be required to attend such church as his parent or guardian shall designate.

To preserve health and elasticity of spirits, to check indolence, and promote industry among the students, they will be daily exercised in athletic sports.

Pupils will be admitted between the ages of Six and Sixteen. None can be received for less than one term.

The uniform Dress will consist of a cap, blue roundabout, with metal buttons, and blue pantaloons. Every article of clothing should be marked with the owner's name in full.

The Terms are two hundred dollars a year, payable quarterly in advance. This includes Tuition, Board, Lodging, Washing, Mending, Light, and Fuel.

The Vacations, after the present year, will be three—the 1st, of two weeks, from the 3d Wednesday in April; the 2d, of four weeks, from the 2d Wednesday in August; and one week at Christmas.

The Matron's department will be under the care of Mrs. Reynolds, of this city.

"To raise the genius and to mend the heart;
Shew Virtue her own features;
Vice her own image;
The age and body of the time, his form and pressure."

THE Subscriber has the satisfaction to say to the public, and his friends, that he has connected with his other business, the manufactury of Mill and Cross Cut Saws; and can furnish supplies to merchants and others: he believes them to be equal to any ever used in the western country—the experience of the workmen employed, with the known good qualities of the steel, justifies him in warranting the article to any who may be disposed to patronize western industry.

☞ WELCH MEDICAMENTUM. ☜

FOR the cure of Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, Jaundice, Cholic, Fever and Ague, Dysentery, Headach, Loss of Appetite, Flatulence, Hypochondria, Hysterics, Dropsical Complaints, and Heartburn, It also prevents all Bilious disorders, and removes habitual Costiveness, Asthma, Strangury, Gravel, Rheumatism, Gout, and Impurities of the Blood.

A person who uses this Medicamentum will not require the use of the lancet, or any means of the healing art. It restores and revives the animal spirits, invigorates the system, removes nervous tremors, obtunds rheumatic and anthritic pains, and prevents their return. It cleanses the stomach of all morbid humors, which cause indigestion, acidities, headach, and lowness of spirits; cures all bilious disorders, and all cholics of the stomach and bowels, almost immediately; inspires cheerfulness; gives comfort to the dropsical; takes away palpitation of the heart; gives circulation to the blood; restores bloom to the sallow or sickly cheek, and plumpness to the meagre habit; purges without pain, and banishes all cause of fever of every kind. It acts on the stomach, that great reservoir of the human system, a diseased state of which causes all diseases. No alteration in the usual habits of life is required, but the abstaining from distilled ardent spirits.

CERTIFICATE,

From Rev. Derick Lansing, D. D., Pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church in Utica.

Utica, Jan. 6, 1830.

To Dr. Hitchcock.—Dear Sir: I have always been one of the number of those who have placed little confidence in nostrums or specifics, and for this reason, although I saw your advertisement of the Welch Medicamentum, I could not bring my mind to consent to use it. My sufferings, from indigestion, during the past summer, were so severe, as materially to affect my comfort, and my capacity for usefulness. I have reason to thank you, sir, that, on hearing of the state of my health, you kindly sent me your Medicamentum. I have taken it faithfully, and with entire success. I have not been visited with one of those turns of distress, which before were weekly periodical, since I began to take your valuable medicine. Could I receive the same relief which I have hitherto experienced, on condition of taking it for life, I should cheerfully comply with such condition. Your's, very truly, D. C. LANSING.

ANTI-DYSPEPTIC ELIXER.

ONE of the most agreeable and efficacious Medicines ever discovered for the permanent cure of those chronic states of derangement of the stomach, constituting that miserable disease called Dyspepsia.

The basis of this Elixer is vegetables, and perfectly innocent in its operation; it destroys that sour state of the stomach, the instant it is taken, and stops the morbid secretion, by giving strength to the muscular fibre of that important organ, by which means the peristaltic motion of the intestines is increased, and the costiveness obviated; a new action is given to the system, which puts an end to a train of distressing nervous sensations.

Another form of the disease in which the Elixer is admirably calculated to relieve, is the decline of fever, where the stomach will not bear the ordinary strengthening medicines indicated in such cases, it has the surprising effect of giving vigor, and restoring the natural secretions of the body, without increasing the febrile state. Not the least danger is to be apprehended from exposure to cold, while under the use of this medicine, nor will it interrupt necessary employment of the patient a single hour.

☞ A number of cases of cures performed by the Anti-Dyspeptic Elixer in the vicinity of Pittsburgh can be given.

GEO. W. CARPENTER'S
COMPOUND SYRUP OF LIVERWORT,

A SAFE and Valuable Medicine for Coughs, Spitting of Blood, Consumption, and Liver Complaints.

Most of the medicines made use of for the above diseases are of a stimulating nature, composed generally of Resins and Balsams, in alcoholic solutions, which, although sometimes givingt emporary relief, in almost every instance where they are freely used, aggravate the disease, and reduce the strength of the patient.

This article possesses superior advantages over these preparations, its action being of a tonic, invigorating and strengthening nature, thus overcoming the disease by promoting expectoration, and gradully increasing the strength of the patient, and thus, without being attended with any unpleasant effects: it also agrees with the stomach, in a cases, and is a pleasant medicine to take.

PATENT PLANING MACHINE.—The right to use this valuable machine, invented and patented by William Woodworth, and known as Woodworth's Patent Planing Machine, may be obtained on application to the subscriber for the counties of Allegheny, Butler, Beaver, Washington, Green, Fayette, Somerset, Cambria, Indiana, Jefferson, Clearfield, M'Kean, Warren, Venango, Mercer, Crawford, and Erie, in the State of Pennsylvania. That part of Maryland lying west of the Blue Ridge; all that part of Virginia lying west of the Blue Ridge, except the county of Ohio. The whole of the state of Ohio except the counties of Hamilton, Butler, and Montgomery. The whole of the state of Kentucky, except the counties of Jefferson, Boone, Oldham, Gallatin, and Campbell. The whole of Indiana, except the counties of Floyd, Clark, Jefferson, Dearborn, and Switzerland. The whole of the state of Illinois, and the territory of Michigan. Rights to use the machine in that part of the United States, named above, will be sold by the single county or in larger districts. As it is presumed that no one will purchase without seeing the machine at work, a description of it is deemed unnecessary. Should any person, however, wish to purchase, and find it inconvenient to visit the places where it is in operation, a machine will be furnished, warranted to plane, tongue and groove, and bring to an exact width and thickness, a white pine board of 12 feet long, and of any width from 1 to 14 inches, in one minute and ten seconds, or an oak board of the same dimensions in 2 minutes and 10 seconds. Machines may be seen at work in the cities of New Orleans, Washington, Philadelphia, New York, Boston, and others at the south and east, at Wheeling, Virginia, and at the saw mill of Messrs. Irwin & Herron, in this city.

Persons desiring to purchase will have the certificates of scientific and practical men who have seen it at work, in the different places in which it has been put up, forwarded to them. They give their opinion as to the great value of the invention, state the time they have seen boards dressed by this machine, and describe the quality of the work as compared with that performed by hand labor.
